

Painting of the Day

Title: Bamboo in the Wind

Artist: Yi Jeong (artist name: Taneun)

Medium: Hanging scroll; ink on silk with gold on colophon

Top Stories

Advisers Propose That Trump Give Security Clearances Without F.B.I. Vetting

Byline: By Maggie Haberman, Jonathan Swan and Charlie Savage

A memo circulating in Donald Trump’s orbit says that if elected he should use private firms to check appointees’ backgrounds and give them immediate access to classified secrets after taking office.

Voters Are Deeply Skeptical About the Health of American Democracy

Byline: By Nick Corasaniti, Ruth Igielnik and Camille Baker

Nearly half say it does not do a good job representing the people, and three-quarters say it is under threat, according to a Times/Siena poll.

Pro-Harris Super PAC Raises Concerns About Focusing on Trump and Fascism

Byline: By Shane Goldmacher and Maggie Haberman

The group, Future Forward, warned that attacking Donald J. Trump as a fascist or questioning his character or stamina are less effective than highlighting Kamala Harris’s proposals.

Behind the Tactical Gains Against Iran, a Longer-Term Worry

Byline: By David E. Sanger, Eric Schmitt, Ronen Bergman and Farnaz Fassihi

Experts inside and outside the Biden administration fear that Iran may conclude it has only one defense left: racing for an atomic weapon.

Measured Comments From Israel and Iran on New Round of Strikes

Byline: By Isabel Kershner, Farnaz Fassihi, Hiba Yazbek and Michael Levenson

Israel’s prime minister said Israeli airstrikes on Iran had achieved their goals, and Iranian officials did not threaten retaliation.

""Your inspirational quote here.""

High: 75°F | Low: 60°F